

Flexible office segment to grow 10-12% this year: Report

FE BUREAU
New Delhi, May 30

THE FLEXIBLE OFFICE segment in India is poised for significant growth in 2023, with estimates pointing towards a growth of 10-12%, according to a report by Colliers.

The adoption of hybrid work models, combining remote work and physical office presence, has propelled the demand for flex spaces. This trend has resulted in increased activity in peripheral locations and non-metro cities, where companies are establishing multiple satellite offices, the report said.

In 2019, the sector grew 5-8%. The demand has mostly picked pace after the Covid pandemic. Further, flex office spaces also result in cost savings for companies, improved efficiency, and overall employee experience. Non-metro cities like Ahmedabad, Coimbatore, Indore, Jaipur, Kochi, and Lucknow are witnessing heightened demand for flex spaces, particularly from technology, consulting, and e-commerce companies.

"Flex spaces have emerged as a core strategy for occupiers to adopt a decentralised workspace model, serving as a promising alternative to the traditional paradigm. As compared to shorter lease tenures of 1-2 years pre-pandemic, occupiers are now going for longer commitments of 3-5 years with flex space operators as they look to integrate flex space as a long-term solution," said Peush Jain, managing director of Office Services at Colliers in India.
